

CAMERON MODESTE

I am a product of a caribbean background. I have been just getting through this thing we call life. I have been getting through this using all experiences and lessons to get through this hot mess.

COLOR WHEEL

This was a color wheel project. In this project I used a portrait of Nicki Minaj to play with hues and the transition of colors. Here we had to execute playing with colors and transitions

POSTCARD

This was our first project, we made a postcard for destinations across the globe I chose the Taj Mahal. I used the pen tool, lines, and brush tool in Adobe Illustrator

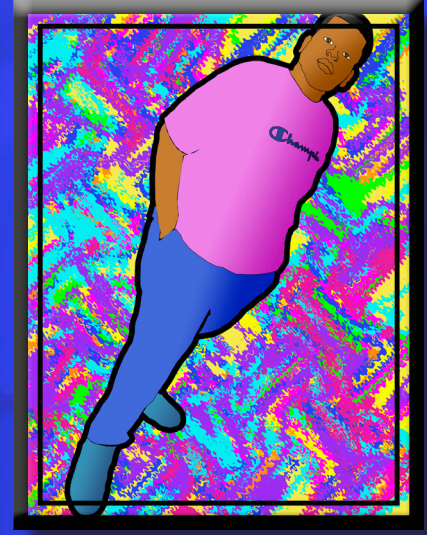

VISUAL HIERARCHY

This was our first project on the InDesign. In this project we used words and turned them into a fun and creative design. Here you can see that I morphed a gallery presentation to a balanced and fun design

THE PROCESS

These were just 3 of my many failed attempts at making a psychedelic and flat design style self portrait for out mueseum exhibit project. I struggled with trying to balance the two graphic design styles and make them still creative and beautiful in a limited space. This took time and trust me it took alot of it and alot of stressful moments.

FELT CREATIVE

