

The Key to finding history books in the library.

I begin with a personal introduction. I have been a history nerd since I was a child. My undergraduate degree is in US History and Diplomacy, I have a masters in library science and an MA in world history with a minor in history of technology. I am the history librarian

This means that I have a passion for both history and information structures.

I have been collecting library subject headings. Subject headings are like the key to a lock, to unlock a treasure trove of texts on a specific subject.

World War I is translated into World War: 1914-1918. In the main search box on the library website.

China history 20th Century

I have lots of keys.
