

Subject: Thank you for joining us at BBDO!

Hello there,

We hope you enjoyed our BMCC MEA field trip to the BBDO ad agency last month. We trust you had an informative experience and could envision yourself interning there someday!

Take a peek at our photo album. And don't forget, we had an amazing time at Google in June too! See the photo album here.

There will be more field trips coming up. BBDO will open their internships in March, and here's information on a CUNY TV internship. We have confidence that you'll be ready when the time comes.

If you're contemplating a paid internship program, here's a heads-up from the MEA department: A well-crafted resume, bio, and portfolio, vetted by our faculty, is the key to Success. You'll significantly boost your chances of securing a spot.

We're ready to assist you at every turn!

STEP 1: Start by checking in and registering with our departmental internship advisor, Alex Vasquez, at alvasquez@bmcc.cuny.edu.

STEP 2: Alex will be your guide to creating an awesome Resume, Bio, and Portfolio. If you're ready to go, explore our digital tools—an efficient way to craft your resume and bio.

STEP 3: Attend our workshops, some are in person in the BMCC Makerspace and some online, focused on enhancing your resume, bio, and portfolio. You'll have the support of Alex, our dedicated faculty, members of the Writing Center, and industry experts.

STEP 4: Before you hit the apply button for your dream internship, have your finished work reviewed by our faculty and department friends.

STEP 5: The final step—apply for the internship that resonates with you!

We're excited about the journey ahead and can't wait to see you excel. If you have any questions or need guidance, just reach out. Together, we'll make your career dreams a reality!

Warmest regards,

Abby Guzman VAT, Becky Lamming VAT, Katelyn Walrond-Scott ANI, Nashiem Johnson ANI
