

BMCC Virtual Alumni Chats

A nurse's journey from BMCC to Yale to a Johns Hopkins doctorate

Wednesday, Sept 30, 2020
3:00-4:00 PM via Zoom

Register at:
www.bmcc.cuny.edu/alumni

Alumni Speaker

Marcia Hodge, DNP(C), MSN, RN, CCNS

Marcia Hodge graduated from BMCC in 1997 with an A.A.S in Nursing, then received a B.S.N at Long Island University-Brooklyn Campus.

While working as a nurse in the Open-Heart Step-down Unit at Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn, she later attained a Master's Degree as a Critical Care Cardiovascular Clinical Nurse Specialist from Yale University. Her nursing experience has been as a Medical-Surgical, Telemetry, and Cardiothoracic ICU nurse. Then she moved on to become an Assistant Nurse Manager, and later transitioned to Oncology as a Nurse Manager. Hodge is currently a Director for Nursing Excellence & Quality, and enrolled in the Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) Executive Track Program at Johns Hopkins University.

