

WHERE I AM FROM BY RAMATU YAKUBU.

I am from a pantry,

from cocoa beans and milk.

I am from the Green Land with a diverse and vibrant heritage.

I am from the roses,

the petals, various colors, patterns, and textures.

I am from if you break the traditional rules, you have committed a taboo and honoring traditional rulers.

from Yaa Serwaa

and Gyamra and Sarkodie.

I am from the “love your neighbor as yourself”

and “honor your mother and father so that you may live long”

From dwarfs are humans but spiritual and if you eat with your left hand, you eat with Satan the devil.

I am from a mosque.

Further description.

I'm from Kumasi,

eto and waakye.

From the My grandfather died of a heart attack,

and the My uncle is the richest in the family and the My aunt got married to a rich man with 8 children.

I am from the photo album hidden in the wardrobe,

Smiles in each photo,

Archives of my childhood.