

In the first assignment that we did which was “one thing you know about theater and one curiosity about it”; I stated that theater is a cultural expression that involves so many factors like a script, set design between others. I knew about some of these aspects but in a very general way now, I can say I understand their role in a play and how they are used in a play although, there is still a lot more about theater that we didn't cover, everything we covered this semester was very helpful and eye opening to learn what is theater what is used in theater and how we can incorporate this in our real life such as in social media the importance of the lighting and others. I'm glad this is our final project because everyone can be as creative as they want.

For my final project I plan to make a short film because it will allow me to be as creative as I want because I'm able to incorporate music, words, I can do voice over and I can also play with the transitions and in a way the lighting. My plan for my creative project is to connect everything from the beginning explaining and showing examples of each topic we cover throughout this semester such as acting, directing, set design, lights, costumes, world theatre, devised theatre, genre because I feel like we learn everything in the perfect order and also, it will show somehow a better understanding for those who might have had a lack in any of the topics/assignments. For each topic I would like to involve examples of plays that I watched as well as real life examples that can relate to me and everyone.
